GANNETT R6-P6-S19

Sacred to the memory of Mrs. Susanna GANNETT, wife of Mr. Thomas GANNETT and dau. of the late Polycarpus LORING and Mrs. Mary, his wife. She was born Feb. 6th, 1737 and with her own hands closed her own eyes in death Oct. 23, 1801, aged 64 years, 8 months & 6 days. Her exit out of time into eternity was without a struggle or a moan & well might she adopt the triumphant conquerous song, "O death, where is thy sting? O, gravey where is thy victory? Being assured from the word of truth that those who sleep in Jesus, God will bring with Him."

"Silent in the grave my body lies,
Until the trump of God shall bid it rise.
Such is the fate of living men,
And must we die to live again.
Now let my spirit in anthems join,
Now songs to sing which art near and dear.
Go to my grave and drop a tear,
And wait your appointed time to die.
Now worlds beyond these gloomy regions lye,
Now to the Father & the Son & Holy Spirit be given,
Eternal praise by all on earth and all in Heaven.
This inscription when it you see,
When pause and still remember me.
Now to my God and Saviour who hearest prayer,
In honor to Their names this monument I rear,
And while I have my reason, life and breath,
The names of the sacred three I will forever bless.
And now like Jacob's pillar this shall be,
A standing witness twixt God and me."
