B. Statewide Bicycle Transportation Plan – Discussion and Opportunities to Provide Input

OLD COLONY JOINT TRANSPORTATION COMMITTEE (JTC)

Paul Chenard discussed the Statewide Bicycle Transportation Plan. Through the Bicycle Transportation Plan update, the Commonwealth seeks to advance bicycling as a means of everyday transportation and as a form of recreation statewide. MassDOT is seeking public participation in the plan via an online survey and through an online mapping tool where individuals can indicate barriers that keep them from riding their bicycle. The Bicycle Transportation Plan update is being managed by Toole Design, an engineering, planning and landscape architecture firm. Currently Toole Design is in the data gathering phase.

Glenn Geiler asked if this is being launched at the Moving Together Conference. Paul Chenard stated that this plan has been launched for over a year. There will be a municipal resource guide on how communities can get information regarding this transportation plan at the Moving Together Conference.

C. Old Colony Pavement Management System – Overview and Findings

Ray Guarino discussed the Old Colony Pavement Management System. The pavement management system involves windshield evaluation of road surfaces by staff in the field. This is done every four years to coincide with the Regional Transportation Plan update. The surveys document the severity and extent of specific surface deficiencies including: potholes and patching, alligator cracking, distortion, rutting, weathering/block cracking, transverse and longitudinal cracking, bleeding/polished aggregate, surface wear and raveling, corrugations, shoving, and slippage.

As a result of the data collection and analysis completed for the 2012 Old Colony RTP, the total cost to improve all federal aid eligible roads (bring all the roads up to the Excellent category) was estimated to be $199,918,410. As a result of the data collection and analysis completed in 2016, the total cost to improve all federal aid eligible roads (bring all the roads up to the Excellent category) was estimated to be $213,197,802.

Chairperson O'Toole asked if there is information for all the towns in our region. Ray Guarino replied yes, but only for federal aid roads.
